MENDOCINO COUNTY WELCOMES MORE INFORMATION THROUGH DROUGHT HOTLINE

The Mendocino County Water Agency and County officials are asking residents living in unincorporated areas of the County to call in to the Mendocino County Drought Hotline if they are having issues with water supply. These calls have proven to be an invaluable source of information to know where problems are occurring in the County with residential groundwater. For those residents who are on a well or draw from a spring, and who are also concerned that this source of water will not last much longer – or is already dry – you are encouraged to call in to the Mendocino County Drought Hotline at 707-463-4589 and leave a message. Please be advised that the Drought Hotline is still just for informational purposes. However, residents may also call the County's Department of Environmental Health for further resources and information regarding water haulers, at 707-234-6625.
